

Jamie Manson is President of Catholics for Choice. For over fifteen years she has been a thought leader and advocate in the field of women's equality and reproductive rights in the Catholic Church and the public square. For 12 years, she was a columnist at the National Catholic Reporter where she was the only openly lesbian journalist in the Catholic media in the world and an often-solitary voice for feminism, LGBTQ equality, and reproductive freedom.

Jamie's expertise in Catholicism and sexual ethics was first formed during her studies at Yale with her mentor, Margaret Farley, RSM. She edited and wrote the introduction to Changing the Questions: Explorations in Christian Ethics, a collection of writings by Margaret Farley (Orbis Books, 2015). Jamie has published op-eds in the New York Times, NBC Think, Ms. Magazine, and Rewire and has been featured in dozens of media outlets, including Full Frontal with Samantha Bee, MSNBC's The Reid Out, NPR, the BBC, the LA Times, and CNN. She is the recipient of the Sr. Theresa Kane Woman of Vision and Courage Award and was named a "Religious Leader to Watch" in 2020 by the Center for American Progress.
